ARMIES COLLIDE

The Force of Gen. Methuen in Pressing Forward Meets
Blockade of Boers.

A BLOODY BATTLE FOLLOWS

It is a Question to Whom Victory Belongs, Though the English Claim It.

LADYSMITH REPORTED FALLEN

LONDON, Nov. 29, 5 a.m.—Virtually the only fresh news from the front is contained in the dispatches of General Forester-Walker to the war office. The cables continue silent, presumably because of General Buller's desire to prevent leakage regarding important movements
now being carried on.

It seems clear, however, that Lord
Methuen is continuing to advance rapidly, and that finding the railway much damaged, left it behind him.
When telegraphic communication is resumed it is quite possible that news may come of four simultaneous battles at Modder river, Atundel Stomberg and Colenso.

As the Boers, according to General Forester-Walker's advice, were leaving Kimberley for the south, it is regarded as not impossible that Colonel Kewell is already marching with 2000 troops to meet Lord Methuen. It is believed that after the relief of Kimberley, Lord Methuen will proceed to the relief of Mafeking, about which considerable anxiety is still felt.

LONDON, Nov. 29. A great battle has been fought between the Boers
and General Methuen's forces at Modder River. The result is reported as inde-cisive.

Mrs. Bishop was a daughter of the late Samuel F. Hart, a well known resident of the county, and was born in McCracken county fifty-one years ago July 31, 1849. She was united in marriage to Judge Bishop January 29, 1867, and with her husband resided in Blandine until about ten years ago, when the family came to Paducah to live. Mrs. Bishop was a constant member of the Broadway M. E. church and a faithful Christian woman, a loving wife and mother and a valued friend. She leaves in addition to her venerable husband, three sons, Messrs. Henry L. William and Joseph Bishop, and four sisters, Madames Ad G. Coleman, Bettie Bristol and Courtney Long, of the city, and Mrs. E. T.
Overstreet, of the country.

The funeral will occur Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Services will be conducted at the Broadway
M. E. church and the burial in Oak Grove, Rev. Dr. Briggs and Rev.
Mr. Johnston will officiate at the services. All friends are invited without further notice.

The active pall bearers will be W.

D. Green, J. K. Hendricks, B. H. Scott,

L. B. Ogilvie and Sam T. Hubbard, and they are requested to meet at the office of W. D. Green tomorrow at 2 p.m. The honorary pall bearers will be L. D. Husbands, J. W. Bloomfield, W. M. Reed and H. M. Orme, and they are requested to meet at the office of L. D. Husbands at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 29, 1899.

The Boer-British war, as The Sun a few days since predicted, is now at white heat. The latest report is of a battle at Madder river.

There will be twenty contests before the legislature for seats in the two bodies. An effort to make the body relatively Democratic is the cause of these contests.

It is well settled that the Republican national convention will be held in Chicago during next June. Over half the members of the committee have so expressed themselves.

There is too much talk of bloodshed at Frankfort in connection with the gubernatorial contest. The sensationalist is in the saddle, it is clear, but right and wrong will rule and justice will prevail and peace hold.

Kentucky can justly feel proud of her namesake, the great battlefield. The vessel is pronounced not only the best war craft owned by the nation but the fastest by considerable odds. There is nothing but praise for the Kentucky's excellency.

If the United States wishes to get rid of Aguinaldo without having him as a white elephant in their hands all that is necessary is to drive him into hiding among some of his men. They will do the act for him, the treachery of the race having been fully manifested heretofore.

Henry C. Payne, of Wisconsin, will offer, a resolution at the meeting of the Republican national committee to change the basis of representation at national conventions. The plan, if adopted, would materially reduce the delegations from Southern states, while increasing them in a number of Northern states.

Lincoln N. Dembitz, a Louisville attorney, has prepared a written opinion showing that the state election board can not throw out the vote of the contested counties, but must issue the certificate to Taylor. He quotes the Kentucky court of appeals on the subject, and makes the paper a strong one.

HOW TO PREVENT A COLD

After exposure, or when you feel a cold coming on take a dose of Foley's Honey and Tar. It never fails and will prevent pneumonia or consumption if taken in time.

D. A. Yeler, S. H. Winstead.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Go and Ask Deputy Sheriff Gus Rogers and He'll Tell You.

Deputy Sheriff Gus Rogers has concluded that there is sometimes a great deal in a name, despite the foolish doubt created by a certain great poet.

Yesterday he was out in the vicinity of Plunkett's Hill, serving subpoenas for witnesses, when he came across a colored man and asked him where a certain other man could be found. The man replied and Deputy Rogers then asked him his own name to which he replied Dick Crawley.

"Come get in," quoth the sheriff. "I haven't been looking for you but two months."

The man reluctantly obeyed and found that he had been taken on a bench warrant on an indictment charging him with gaming. He gave bond and was released.

DON'T RISK YOUR LIFE.

Many of your friends, or people whom you know of having contracted consumption, pneumonia or other fatal diseases by neglect of a simple cold or cough. Foley's Honey and Tar, a safe, sure and pleasant cough medicine, would have saved them. It is guaranteed.

D. A. Yeler, S. H. Winstead.

BIG RECEPTION.

Many People Visiting the Home for the Friendless Today.

The ladies of the Home for the Friendless are this afternoon, from 2 to 5, holding a reception as is their custom every Thanksgiving eve.

Each guest brings some article of utility, such as clothing, furnishings and such things, and a goodly store of food is always laid by. There are three women and eleven children in the Home at present.

Senator Hanna, whose work in the last canvass was a credit to the nation as well as himself, will be succeeded as chairman of the national committee in the next canvass by a new man, who will be chosen by the national committee. This seems to be a settled fact, or at least it is one announced by those close to Mr. Hanna, who will not be chairman of the national committee which will be chosen at the next national convention. This is his own determination. Nothing could induce him to confront rheumatism and the responsibilities of a national campaign at one and the same time. Not even the earnest solicitation of the president will change this determination. But no statement to this effect may be expected from Senator Hanna for some time. In accordance with precedent the chairman will be named by the nominees for president. President McKinley has not yet canvassed the field of possibilities.

Mrs. Thomas Hiddeman, Marshallville, Mich., writes: I was troubled with Salt Rheum for over thirteen years. Had tried a number of doctors without relief. My husband bought a box of Balsam Salve, which I applied two or three times and my hands began to get better. In a short time they were entirely cured.

D. A. Yeler, S. H. Winstead.

THE WHOLE CABINET

Approves Mr. McKinley's Official Document and Declares it Able.

The Cuban Situation Giving the President's Ministers Much Food for Thought.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—The cabinet meeting yesterday was devoted almost exclusively to the consideration of the President's message. A large portion of the message was read by the president, after which the members entered into a long discussion of the policies and recommendations it contained. It met with general approval, and after the meeting had adjourned several of the members expressed the opinion that it was an unusually strong and able document.

The protests which the cable reporters from Cuba say some of the Cubans are asking again the establishment of a civil government in Cuba were incidentally brought to the attention of the cabinet by Secretary Root. None of these protests, however, has been officially received here. Secretary Root said, in answer to a question on this subject, there was no immediate intention of establishing a civil government in Cuba.

This, however, must only be taken to mean that no decision has yet been reached concerning the appointment of the governor of the colony in connection with the gubernatorial contest.

It is well settled that the Republican national convention will be held in Chicago during next June.

Over half the members of the committee have so expressed themselves.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

Oh, did I dream? Was it a vision gay
That swept before mine eyes and left no trace? Was it reality that wondrous store
Of pies and turkey, cakes and sweets
galore,
And clover, too, that erst with stealthy straw
I from the barrel had been wont to

Now placed, with all the rest, that
bitsful day,

At my sweet will, with none to say
me nay?

Alas, woe is me! It was no vision rare
For such delights that seized me in a wave—

No dream, this, that fill my frame

With woe,

And in mine own apartments lays

me low,

While bottles and prescriptions

ranged about

Remind that man is mortal, and

without,

The fatal poison goes his way

To other victims of Thanksgiving

Day. —K. B. L., in Life.

placing his arm about Mr. McKinley's neck, 'do you know you ought to be a Christian? Here you have a good home, a good wife, a good family, and everything else a man might wish for. Don't you know you ought to be a Christian? Look what the Lord has done for you. You ought to ask him to make you a Christian.'

"Yes," drawled McKinley, "I reckon I'm pretty bad, but brother, to tell you the truth, the good Lord has done so darned much for me al, ready I am ashamed to ask him to do any more." And that perhaps is the reason McKinley has never become a Methodist to this day."

The dangerous habit of the small boy with his toy pistol is going to cause more or less trouble yet, if something isn't done to abolish it. The police have less chance to seize the pistols than the parents themselves, of boys, as the boys keep a lookout for the police, and do not their shooting where they would be likely to find an officer. The pistols in question are supposed to be made for blank cartridges, but can be used for real cartridges, and the boys lost no time in finding it out. The weapons are dangerous to life and limb and eye, and every boy should be divested of them, and the hardware stores should restrict their sales.

There is one pair of rubber heels in Paducah. A young county official who has been in the habit of wearing them for the ease in which they enable him to walk, was coming down the street the other evening about dusk when a young lady leading a small boy looked up in front of him in the gathering gloom. Just as he started past her she looked around and screamed and he jumped about four feet in an opposite direction, not knowing what to make of it.

"What kind of a license?" inquired Colonel Hobson over his spectacles.

"A mahage license," was the reply.

"Well, my friend, I don't know whether we have any left or not.

About how much do you want to pay?"

"Shoo," marse, "I don't know, but I'd lak tow git hit did es cheap's yo' kin do it."

"How do you want the knot tied?"

"Why, the nuptial knot."

"I ain axin' bouten' no n-nupshul knot. It's a mahage license I want."

"Well, it's all the same. When a preacher marries you, he calls it tying the knot." And that's what you want?"

"Yesss," he responded with a grin of intelligence.

"Now what kind of a knot do you want?"

"Jes' chalina' knot."

"One dollar if you don't want it very tight. If you want it tight, it'll cost you more."

"Coudin' yo' cum down jes' a little?" You see, I's bin mafied an' hit done cost me foalys doh-lone tow git dat 'knot' entid. I done want it so tight dis time.

"Nuh, yes. You want a slip knot. One that you can get untied easy."

"Dat's de ting. How much will dat cost?"

"Fifty-five cents, but the knot won't be very tight."

Colonel Hobson rang the bell and Judge Tully came in. The case was put before him, and after the prospective bridegroom had explained that he didn't care to marry, as he had had one experience already, but was willing to risk one of Colonel Hobson's "slip knots" provided he could get it tied cheap enough, Judge Tully offered to do the tying for one dollar, and the dawdy left, saying he would be back that afternoon.

In the afternoon he returned with the license sealed up in an envelope, and the girl, and Judge Tully married them. When he turned the envelope he felt something heavy, and 75 cents rolled out. He claims that Colonel Hobson is reducing the cost of marrying, and for this reason is thinking of having the injunction.

M. George Katterjohn has at his residence on South Eleventh street,

a banana tree with twenty or more ripe bananas upon it. The tree was planted by Mr. Katterjohn about five years ago, and has been carefully tended and watched until it had rewarded him all by perhaps the first bananas ever raised here to such an extent. The plant is kept in a barrel in the house during the winter.

The name of McKinley is usually significant of good luck," remarked Colonel H. H. Hobson yesterday. "I used to know a man up here in Trigg county who was one of the luckiest fellows you ever heard about.

I remember a good story about him, which will do to tell. He was not fond of work, but seemed to be very popular among his friends and acquaintances, and one day awoke to find himself elected to office. After that he married a girl worth forty or fifty thousand dollars, and after that he lived on "Easy street"

as the saying goes among us young men.

"His home was the headquarters for the presiding elders of the district when he passed through, for his mother was a good old Methodist,

his father was a Methodist, his sisters and brothers were Methodists, and in short every one was a Methodist—except himself. He did not belong to any church.

"One day the presiding elder came,

and while he was there Mr. McKinley's wife called him and said she wanted him to have a talk with her husband, for he needed the glory of Christian love and fortitude. The good brother said he would.

"When they were ready to start for the church and church, which could be seen far down the road in front of the house, Mrs. McKinley walked in front, and left her husband in the clutches of the designing elder.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

Oh, did I dream? Was it a vision gay
That swept before mine eyes and
left no trace?

Was it reality that wondrous store

Of pies and turkey, cakes and sweets

galore,

And clover, too, that erst with stealthy straw

I from the barrel had been wont to want to say me nay?

Alas, woe is me! It was no vision rare

For such delights that seized me in a

wave—

No dream, this, that fill my frame

With woe,

And in mine own apartments lays

me low,

While bottles and prescriptions

ranged about

Remind that man is mortal, and

without,

THE RIVER NEWS.

Observation taken at 7 a. m. River 2.4 feet on the gauge; no change in last 24 hours. Wind south; light breeze. Weather cloudy and cool. Temperature 46. Fall, Observer.

Captain Wm. Edwards took command of the towboat Kenton this morning and will leave tomorrow morning for Trade Water mines, to bring out a big tow of coal for the Paducah Coal and Mining company.

We are having pretty weather again, but the rivers are not rising as fast as would suit the desires of all the river men. Business very quiet on the wharf today.

The new steel hull steamer W. R. King built for the government at Jeffersonville, left Louisville yesterday for St. Louis.

Captain Don Marr, one of the most popular western river navigators, will command the Sunshine in the Memphis and Cincinnati trade this season.

Billy Gupton was in the city yesterday. He had just returned from a visit to his old flame. The girl with whom he may be bows to a lady, he should show the same courtesy, although she may be unknown to him. Should a friend be with him and recognize a friend, he should lift his hat.

The queen of hickory flat, who wears high-heeled copper-toed shoes.

And a wide-brim feathered hat.

Parties from Danville, Tenn., are here waiting the arrival of the John Lowery, as they wish to buy him.

There was never a better boat built for her draught than the Charleston, and she will coin money for her owner, Captain Crouch, who has a good trade for her, and enough business engaged ahead to keep his boat busy all winter and coming spring.

The J. B. Richardson fare well in freight and passenger receipts on her departure for Cairo.

The owners of the Brook Hill are having an elegant house boat built to be used principally on hunting trips by the club. The boat will be fitted up with sleeping apartments and other conveniences for hunting trips.

The workmen who have claims against the Fred A. Blanks which is to be sold for debt are the greatest sufferers as they are greatly in need of their claims.

There is no packet leaving today for Evansville.

The W. J. Cummins leaves at 5 p. m. today for Riverton, Ala., and all way landings.

The City of Golconda is due to day and leaves or return to Elizabethtown at noon tomorrow.

The Kuttawa leaves tomorrow noon for Grand Rivers.

Nearly all who are interested in river matters are exhausted in patience, as it seems the rivers are stubbornly clinging to the low water which has prevailed for the last six months. If cold weather should set in before a rise occurs it will be good by to river business until the latter part of the winter or early spring. Yet we still contend on a good boating water in a few days.

The beautiful sidewheeler U. S. Light House Steamer Lily arrived this morning from St. Louis and has gone into winter quarters here. The Bald Eagle will arrive here from St. Louis next Saturday and take her winter rest here.

THE CEREMONY OF THE HAT.

"The ceremony of the hat is something more punctilious than formerly," writes Mrs. Burton Kingsland in the Ladies' Home Journal. "A man awaits the lady's recognition before he raises his hat to her. He also raises his hat when presented to a woman, when meeting and taking care of her, when about to address her, or when she first speaks to him—for whatever reason, if he passes her on a stairway or front of her in a public conveyance, theater or elsewhere—indeed, whenever the least apology would be in order; when he offers his services in any way, even tacitly, or shows her some trifling courtesy; and when about to leave his hat when acknowledging her thanks. A man should pay the same mannerly tribute to her sex when a woman enters an elevator, and remain uncovered during his stay therein. He should also raise his hat upon recognizing an acquaintance who has a lady with him. If the friend with whom he may be bows to a lady, he should show the same courtesy, although she may be unknown to him. Should a friend be with him and recognize a friend, he should lift his hat."
